CARNELL SENT TO PRISON.

YEAR'S HARD LABOUR FOR FRAUD.

GUILT ADMITTED AT THE CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

FORGED CHEQUE.

Bernard Joseph Carnell frankly admitted that he had no intention of paying for a magneto which he obtained from the Fiat Motor Car Company when he appeared at the Criminal Sessions this morning and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment with hard labour by Mr. Justice Wood, on an indictment of obtaining goods on a worthless cheque with intent to defraud.

Accused was charged that, on April 3, 1930, with intent to defraud, he obtained from the Fiat Motor Company a magneto, by falsely pretending to Barker Ali Hyder, the manager, that a cheque purporting to be drawn by J. Hartley, which Carnell produced and delivered to Hyder, was a good and valid order on the National City Bank of New York for payment of the sum of $215.

Plea of Guilty.

When asked to plead, accused, who was not represented, pleaded guilty.

His Lordship:—You understand this charge?—Yes.

His Lordship:—You took these goods and never intended to pay for them? You took them with the intention of defrauding this man?—Yes.

Mr. Somerset Fitzroy, for the Crown, stated that on April 2, this year, accused went to the garage and made enquiries about magnetos, saying he wanted to purchase some. On the following morning, at about ten o'clock, he went there again and saw a Lucas magneto. He asked the price and was told $115. He then asked that he might be supplied with four of them, but the manager explained that that was the only one they had in stock.

Agreed to Take Two.

Accused was shown another make of magneto, valued at $100, and accused agreed to take the two, the total value being $215. At about two o'clock in the afternoon he returned to the garage and said that as his landlady was out he could not get the money, but shortly before five o'clock he again returned and asked for the magnetos. He was then told that the Lucas was the only one available, as the other had been sent out and accused then produced a cheque for $215, obviously to pay for the two magnetos. He was told he could get the other magneto on the following morning.

No Account.

Having received the cheque, the manager sent round to the bank and ascertained, first of all, that it was not one of the ordinary cheque forms issued by the bank. It was also discovered that there was no account and no one of the name J. Hartley known at the bank.

Accused was arrested on a Canton boat, just before it left, so that apparently he was going away to Canton.

Counsel added that when accused was searched, he was found to be in possession of a cheque book from which the worthless cheque had been taken, and there was another cheque form filled in for another person for $250. What accused was going to do with that cheque was not known.

Previous Conviction.

Mr. Fitzroy went on to say that unfortunately, on August 2, last year, Carnell was before the Police Magistrate, charged, with unlawfully obtaining money from several people by falsely pretending he was employed by the Dollar Directory Company when he was not employed by them. He was found guilty, ordered to compensate the Directory Company to the extent of $76, and he was bound over on his own recognisances in the sum of $250 to come up for sentence, if required to do so.

INTERPORT MATCH COMMENCES.

SHANGHAI BATSMEN MAKE GOOD OPENING.

50 FOR NO WICKETS.

Shanghai, May 19.
The weather was warm when the interport match started this morning. There was a slight wind and the pitch was favourable. Shanghai went in first, their opening batsmen being Divecha and Simpson.

Divecha was painfully careful against the good bowling of Reynolds and Reid. Simpson was missed in the slips at 19 by Fincher.

Hongkong's fielding was good. After 65 minutes' play, Shanghai had scored 50 runs without the loss of a wicket.

Hongkong's bowling average up to 12.45 p.m. was as follows:

	O.	M.	R.
Reynolds	8	3	10
Reid	8	3	17
More	4	3	6
Beck	3	1	7
Duckett	2	1	1

—Our Own Correspondent.

A cable received by Mr. L. S. Greenhill, Hon. Secretary of the H.K.C.C., this morning, stated that the match commenced at 11.30, in brilliant, hot weather. The wicket was plumb.

The message stated that the Hongkong men were all fit, and the Shanghai team was comprised of Leach (capt.), Barnes, Barson, Divecha, Isaacs, Madar, Marshall, O'Hara, Robertson or Quayle, Simpson and Stokes. It was added that Hongkong would be playing the Services on Thursday and Friday.

The Hongkong team is as follows:—T. E. Pearce (capt.), E. C. Fincher, E. F. Fincher, Capt. J. R. Reynolds, A. Reid, E. Zimmerman, E. R. Duckitt, E. J. R. Mitchell, D. J. N. Anderson, A. C. Beck, and G. R. More.

JAPAN AND NAVAL TREATY.

STORM OF DISAGREEMENT NOW REVIVED.

Tokyo, May 19.

Admiral Takabe, Naval adviser to the Japanese delegation at the London Naval Conference, is apparently destined to become the centre of the revived storm over the London Treaty.

When he arrived at Tokyo he was greeted by Mr. Hamaguchi and other members of the Cabinet. Owing to fears of hostile demonstrations by opponents of the Treaty, two hundred extra police guarded the station but Admiral Takabe's arrival passed off without incident.

National interest is focussed on Admiral Takabe's course because he is the first delegate to return from London and moreover occupies a strategic position between the civilian authorities who concluded the Treaty and the Naval General Staff which is still bitterly opposing ratification. —Reuter.

MOTOR ACCIDENTS IN CANTON.

These deaths 53 people seriously injured and 332 slightly injured. The total motor vehicles registered in Canton amount to about 1,000.—Our Own Correspondent.

REDS ACTIVE IN KWANGSI.

INHUMAN METHODS ADOPTED.

POSEH OFFICIALS FLEE AS INVADERS APPROACH.

NANNING PEACEFUL.

Nanning, May 7.

"Red" activity is again evident in the western part of Kwangsi. Due to internal warfare, the provincial authorities are unable to send out sufficient troops to exterminate the trouble-makers; consequently, groups of several hundred "Reds" are constantly raiding cities, wreaking vengeance wherever possible.

Where the efforts of the "Reds" have been successful, their methods have been most inhuman. Children have had their brains beaten out, and in some instances they have been bound and left in houses which have been set on fire.

Mostly Farmers.

These "Reds" are mostly farmers, who, during the Bolshevik Army's stay in Posh during January and February were induced to join in the campaign. Naturally, when the "Red" Army was defeated, this large body of men was unable to follow the retreating forces and therefore hid in the mountains, being first equipped with arms and ammunition by the "Reds".

Officials Scared.

Recently, over a thousand people from the country round Posh came into that city, with practically nothing. They made their way to the city yamen, where they pleaded for food for themselves and their children. The officials were themselves extremely frightened, the more so as the merchants had previously given to the Government four flags on which were written injunctions urging the authorities to exterminate the "Reds." It was therefore felt by the authorities that if the "Reds" returned to Posh, the city would be burned down.

Big Exodus.

When the writer, on May 1st, left Posh with his family, he found the boat packed with merchants and officials.

This boat, with others, was taking opium from Posh, in respect of which the Government would receive taxes to the extent of about $300,000. A large escort accompanied the boats to Nanning, this comprising a troop of 400 infantry and a battery of machine-guns and cannon. Except with such an escort, travelling is at present impossible.

At one place, we saw hundreds of people fleeing into the mountains, carrying their children and a few bare necessities. The "Reds" were at that time within three li of the city.

Famine Feared.

It seems that there is bound to be a large-scale famine in the Posh area in the coming year, and it is expected that all native products, such as aniseed oil, varnish and opium will rise in price.

Nanning is at present peaceful, although all kinds of rumours are in circulation.

The Kwangsi Army is supposed to have secured a local victory over the Cantonese by crossing over the river on oil tins. Each soldier uses two tins as floats.

Local opinion is that the side which wins in the North will also win in the South.—Our Own Correspondent.

BIG COTTON BLAZE.

FURTHER NANKING SUCCESSES.

KUOMINCHUN DRIVEN FROM NINGLINGHSIEN.

BIG BATTLE AHEAD.

Shanghai, May 18.

Further successes by the picked troops of Marshal Chiang Kai-shek along the Lung-Hai Railway and the capture by the Nanking invaders of Ninglinghsien situate between Kweichow and Kaifeng (the capital of Honan Province), are announced in the latest messages from Lung-Hai front to the Nationalist capital.

Marshal Chiang Kai-shek continues to direct his troops at Kweichow, urging the Nationalist victors to follow up the fleeing Shansi forces. The main body of Kuominchun troops retreated from Kweichow and its environs during the week-end, and on Saturday the Nationalist troops took Ninglinghsien without difficulty.

The Kuominchun Divisional Commanders have received instructions from Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang, Vice-Generalissimo of the Shansi-Kuominchun allies, ordering the retreating Kuominchun troops to retire to Kaifeng. The Kuominchun decision to shorten their defensive lines on the Lung-Hai has resulted in a further advance by the Nationalist troops, part of whom were assaulting Lanfeng this morning, the latter city being between Ninglinghsien and Kaifeng on the railway.

Keen observers predict that the decisive battle between the Nationalist and Kuominchun forces will be fought some time this week at Lanfeng, where Marshal Feng, with the intention to defend Chengchow and Kaifeng, has concentrated his picked troops together with some cavalrymen.

Telegraphic communication between Kweichow and Haichowfu, the Nationalist Headquarters, has been resumed, and large contingents of Nationalist reinforcements arrived at Kweichow from Haichowfu during the week-end in preparation for the coming battle at Lanfeng and Kaifeng.

Marshal Chiang and his trusted Divisional Commander, General Liu Chi, were directing the Nationalist forces in the west of Kweichow on Saturday morning, according to Nanking telegrams, the Nationalist troops engaging in a fierce onslaught against the Kuominchun force under General Wan Hsuan-tsai, whilst the latter were making a determined effort to start a counter-attack against the Nationalists at Kweichow.

UNITED STATES OF EUROPE.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT TO EXAMINE PLAN.

London, May 18.

Twenty-seven European Governments yesterday received copies of the memorandum on the scheme outlined by the French Foreign Minister, M. Briand, which is loosely known as the United States of Europe.

The memorandum is a lengthy document and it will be subjected to close examination by the British Government, which, with other Governments concerned, have been asked to submit their comments and suggestions to M. Briand by July 15th.

It is intended that a report on the whole matter will be submitted to a European Conference to be held at Geneva at the next meeting of the League of Nations Assembly. —British Wireless.

SIR JOSEPH WARD'S RESIGNATION.

BRITISH PREMIER EXPRESSES REGRET.

London, May 18.

We earnestly hope this relief from the burdens of office may soon lead to an improvement in your health." —British Wireless.

MAN DISCHARGED AT SESSIONS.

NO EVIDENCE IN A ROBBERY CASE.

PROCEEDINGS AGAINST TWO OTHER MEN.

When Mr. Somerset Fitzroy, counsel for Crown, stated that the only evidence he could offer against Lau On, one of three men charged in connexion with a robbery at Nga Chin Wai, was that he was found on the night of the robbery in a hut where first accused lived, his Lordship said he thought the Crown would act quite properly by offering no evidence against the man. This course was followed and he was discharged.

The above took place at the Criminal Sessions this morning when Lau Sang, Lau On and Heung Yung were indicted that during the night of April 11-12, 1930, together with one or more persons unknown, they robbed Chan Fat of a rattan basket, two suits of clothing, five pairs of trousers and $15.00 in money. Heung Yung was further charged with stabbing Chan Fat with a knife while Lau Sang faced an alternative count of receiving the stolen property. "All accused pleaded not guilty.

Hut a Mile Away.

Mr. Fitzroy explained that on the night in question, Chan Fat, who was asleep in the thatched, was suddenly awakened by being struck with some sharp instrument which wounded him. He saw three people and at the time he recognised Heung Yung. He called out and the men ran away. None of them were caught at the moment but at about half past twelve Lau Sang was seen on the rifle range carrying a basket. As soon as he realised that he was seen, he put down the basket and ran away. When the basket was examined it was found to contain articles stolen from Chan Fat's thatched.

Lau Sang was arrested and the police visited his house where they found Lau On who was also arrested. Counsel pointed out that the only evidence the Crown could offer against Lau On was that he was, on that night, in Lau Sang's hut.

In reply to his Lordship, Mr. Fitzroy said that accused, but was a mile away from the scene of the robbery.

Counsel continued that Heung Yung was identified by Chan Fat as the man who stabbed him. He would say that it was a moonlight night and he could see to recognise the man, but his wife would say that it was dark and she could not recognise anybody.

A Dark Matshed.

Mr. Fitzroy read Heung Yung's statement when charged at the Police Station. It was to the effect that he knew nothing about the robbery at all and he did not go to Chan Fat's hut that night. Chan Fat had made a false accusation. The statement alleged that Chan Fat had a grudge against him.

Counsel went on to say that the Crown would call a witness who would say that he had known Heung Yung for a considerable time as a fellow foki. On the night of the robbery, that witness would say, Heung Yung went to bed and witness, who got up at 2 a.m. saw accused still asleep in bed.

Replying to his Lordship counsel stated that Heung Yung remained in his own house and carried out his ordinary work within 300 yards of the robbed thatched. He was performing his ordinary work there when arrested.

His Lordship:—I understand that Lau Sang was arrested on the rifle range?—He was seen apparently within a few minutes. Was he then travelling in the direction of his own house?—He was travelling away from his house.

Was there any light in this thatched?—As far as I can gather there was none. It is a dark thatched. The man himself says it was moonlight and he could see; but the woman says "I could not recognise anybody on the night of the robbery." (Continued on Page 12.)

BODY TIED TO A WHARF.

POLICE THEORY OF CRIME ON WATERFRONT.

NO ARRESTS YET.

The theory of a ruthless murder, perpetrated by some unknown persons, is given in connexion with the gruesome discovery on Sunday by a private watchman of the dead body of a middle-aged Chinese named Mak On who was found, secured by a rope and a chain round his body, tied at the end of the bollard on the Hoi On Wharf. A post-mortem examination performed at the Mortuary this morning showed that the man died of fracture of the ribs, rupture of the liver and internal hemorrhage.

It is therefore conjectured that the deceased, a thief known to the waterfront on account of his conviction in the local court on October 19th 1929 was caught on a Chinese steamer or junk in the Harbour, and that those responsible for the crime took the law into their own hands, assaulted the man and left him where he was found.

Police officers believed that the wounds were not caused by a sharp instrument and therefore it is thought that the deceased was severely beaten before he died.

The police are sparing no efforts to get at the bottom of the case, but it was ascertained this morning that no arrest has yet been made.

The finger prints of the deceased shows that his conviction in 1929 was for a larceny on the waterfront.

He is understood to be a native of Tungchow and was 24 years old. The murder is believed to have been committed during the week-end as death could not have occurred earlier than 24 hours before the discovery of the body.

The deceased, attired in black clothing like an ordinary wharf labourer, was barefooted when found.

GRAF ZEPPELIN ON LONG FLIGHT.

SURVEYING THE ROUTE TO PERAMBUCO.

Friedrichshafen, May 18.

The Graf Zeppelin, with a few passengers and a crew of forty-two on board, has started from here on a flight to Seville. She will leave Seville on Tuesday for Pernambuco, Rio de Janeiro and Lakehurst and will then begin her trans-Atlantic flight. The homeward flight is expected to be completed by June 8.

The flight is a survey voyage in preparation for a fortnightly service from Friedrichshafen to Pernambuco. The outward journey is expected to take three days and the return journey four days.—Reuter.

MUSSOLINI'S SPEECH CRITICISED.

FRENCH COMMENTS ON A BELLICOSE HARANGUE.

Paris, May 18.

Mussolini's latest speech at Florence is severely criticised by French newspapers, the Journal des Debats, for instance, referring to it as "the most bellicose harangue in peace time in the course of the present century."

In his speech, Mussolini said that nothing was more insulting to the pride of the Italians than the insinuation that the Naval programme would not be carried out. He emphasised that it would be carried out and twenty-nine ships launched.—Reuter.

AMY JOHNSON AT SINGAPORE.

IMPOSSIBLE TO BEAT THE RECORD.

NEW PROPELLER RESULTS IN LOSS OF SPEED.

Singapore, May 18.

Escorted by two "Moth" aeroplanes, Miss Amy Johnson arrived here to-day and made a perfect landing. She was cheered by an enthusiastic crowd and then went to the Royal Air Force mess where, in an interview with Reuter, she said that it was quite impossible to beat the record owing to headwinds, rain storms and poor visibility before reaching Singora.

Miss Johnson said that the new propeller was not so satisfactory as the first one and therefore she had been unable to fly her machine at full speed.

A new wing is being fitted to the plane here and Miss Johnson expects to leave for Sourabaya on Monday.

She will not attempt a return flight from Australia to England. —Reuter.

Courage and Endurance.

London, May 18.

Miss Johnson was unable to complete the Bangkok-Singapore stage on her flight to Australia yesterday and landed at Singora on the east coast of the Malay Peninsula, about 400 miles from Singapore.

Yesterday was the thirteenth day since Miss Johnson left London. Although she had two days' advantage over the record holder, Mr. Bert Hinkler, when she reached Rangoon, an unfortunate mishap to her machine after landing necessitated delay and the advantage was lost.

The news of her arrival in Singora where she is expected this evening is awaited with intense interest. High tributes are paid to her fine courage and powers of endurance. Reports from Australia state that arrangements are being made to give her a great welcome there.—British Wireless.

Miss Johnson is a B.A. in Economics (Sheffield University), an Associate of the Royal Aeronautical Society, and a member of the Women's Engineering Society. Her pilot's licence is an A, and she holds both A and C licences as a ground engineer. She has done 90 hours' solo flying.

Miss Johnson recently presented an introduction to Sir Granville Ryrie, who cheered her up with a story about the buffalo which tried to stop the express, and quoted the engine-driver's epitaph: "I like your pluck, but I don't think much of your judgment."

6,000 Miles in 14 Days.

London, May 17.

Miss Amy Johnson, the English flying girl, who in 14 days had yesterday completed over 6,000 miles of her attempted flight to Australia, was somewhat exhausted on arriving at Bangkok, exceptionally bad weather having been encountered on the voyage over Burmese mountains from Rangoon. She was flying blind for several hours owing to rain, wind, and mist and took seven hours to fly 355 miles.

She was, however, up soon after dawn to-day in readiness for one of the longest stages of the whole journey—900 miles to Singapore. Her progress is being watched here with utmost interest.

The newspapers publish details comparing her day by day flights with those of the record holder, the Australian, Mr. Bert Hinkler. He equalled Hinkler's performance for the whole journey she must fly the remaining 3,000 miles to Port Darwin in three and a half days.—British Wireless.

UNITED STATES OF EUROPE.TEXT OF M. BRIAND'S MEMORANDUM.

London, May 17.
The Daily Herald's Geneva correspondent gives an "authoritative" summary of M. Briand's proposals for the suggested European Federation, including the establishment of a European Assembly, with a President to be elected annually, and a Council and permanent Secretariat, with headquarters at Geneva.

The Memorandum.

May 18.
The text of M. Briand's memorandum, which he has sent to twenty-six European governments, members of the League of Nations, on the "Organisation and Regime of a European Federal Union," has been officially published.

M. Briand asks the Powers to give an opinion before July 15 on a number of points, including "the necessity for a general pact affirming the principle of a European Moral Union, solemnly consecrating, in fact, the solidarity of the European States," the establishment, firstly, of a representative responsible organ to be called the European Conference, secondly an executive organ or permanent committee, and thirdly, a Secretariat.

M. Briand also suggests the creation of a political committee to prepare a programme for a European organisation, under which the economic will be generally subordinated to the political aspect.

M. Briand's memorandum suggests that the field of European co-operation should embrace economic problems generally, such as public works, transit, finance, labour, immigration, health, and "intellectual co-operation."

It emphasises that a European Federation would not be directed against any State outside Europe, nor against the absolute sovereignty and political independence of its own members.—Reuter.

CANADA AND BACK IN R100.ARRANGEMENTS FOR A TRIAL FLIGHT.

Arrangements are well advanced for the experimental flight of the Air Ministry airship R100 to Canada and back. Flight-Commander Atherstone, First Officer of the sister airship R101, left yesterday for Canada with ten engineers and riggers and one wireless operator, to form a relief crew for the R100 at Montreal.—British Wireless.

OBITUARY.INVENTOR OF ROCKET DRIVEN MOTOR.

Berlin, May 18.

M. Max Valier, the pioneer of the rocket driven aeroplane, was killed while experimenting with a new type of such machine, which exploded. M. Valier died to death as a result of a cut artery, before the doctors arrived.—Reuter.

Max Valier, the inventor of the "rocket" motor, was born at Bozen in the Tyrol in February 1896, and comes of a French Huguenot family. After studying at Innsbruck University he served throughout the war, first in the infantry, then in a war-gas unit and finally as meteorologist and technical officer in the air force. After the armistice he worked for two and a half years at Innsbruck and Vienna Universities, from which he went to Munich where he spent two years in the study of astronomy, meteorology, mathematics and physics, at the same time gaining technical experience. In 1924 he wrote a book on the stars.

Valier then turned his attention to the problem of propulsion by means of rockets and, having devised a system, began to lecture and write on the subject. To raise money for experiments he published in 1924 "The Dash into Space," a book which attracted much attention and which he rewrote under the title "Rocket Propulsion" in 1928. His ideas, however, would not have been given a practical test, had they not been taken up by Fritz von Opel, the motor manufacturer, and the engineer Sander, a pyrotechnic expert.

The rocket car which was first tried on Opel's track in April 1928, and later on the "Avus" track near Berlin and the railway between Burgwedel and Celle, was the work of these three men. In the first test, it attained a speed of 100 km. in 8 seconds; in the second with Opel at the wheel it did 200 km. an hour. During trials in June, however, two cars were destroyed, but there was no one on board.

A rocket aeroplane was also begun, not with the idea of a "dash into space," but for a Transatlantic flight. Its construction was undertaken by the Raab-Katzenstein works at Cassel, but differences arose with Opel which led Valier to break off relations with him. Valier then joined forces with the firm of Eisefeld of Silbermühle and in the summer of 1928 carried out a test with a new rocket car on the line between Nordhausen and Gernrode. Although it was wrecked, he regarded the experiment as a successful one.

A secret test which was said to have been satisfactory was carried out with a rocket plane. The inventor declared that such a machine might rush from Berlin to New York in two hours along the edge of the terrestrial air envelope and that it was intended to push into interstellar space with unmanned rocket airships. It was even implied that a journey to the moon might follow in due course. One practical difficulty was that every second of motion cost a small fortune, but in August 1928, it was decided to discard the explosive powder first used in favour of a non-explosive liquid which was 500 times cheaper.

DISASTROUS OIL FIRE.VISIBLE SIXTY MILES FROM SCENE.

Bucharest, May 18.

A great petroleum fire visible 60 miles away, has broken out in the Scortani district, near Ploesti. At least eight tanks are afire. One engineer has been incinerated and three injured. The damage has already reached enormous proportions.—Reuter.

TRADING JUNK IS PIRATED.HELD UP BY SIX MEN IN CHINESE WATERS.

A piracy in Chinese waters, committed on Wednesday last, has been reported to the local police on the arrival in port of two members of the crew, who managed to escape from the robbers on the appearance of soldiers.

It appears that a trading junk owned by Chau Fat-choi was on its way from Hongkong to Sze Kiu, in the Pun U district, on May 14 with a cargo of rice, cement and dyes, the crew consisting of the master, his wife, son, a female cook and two seamen. On passing the fishing stakes about five miles west of Tong Ku Island in Chinese waters, an oyster boat suddenly appeared at the stern of the trading junk and called upon them to stop, threatening to shoot if the order were ignored.

When the trading junk stopped the oyster boat went alongside and six men armed with revolvers boarded her. The robbers drove all the crew into the forward hold and sailed the junk to Sha Tsung, in the Sun On district. At seven o'clock the robbers intimidated that soldiers were making their appearance, and they decamped, taking away with them the master, his wife and son. The seamen escaped and made their way to Sha Kok, where the incident was reported to the military authorities. The men later returned to Hongkong by the Tai Ping junk.

THE PROHIBITION'S PROBLEM.DWIGHT MORROW OPENS NEW CAMPAIGN.

New York, May 17.

Mr. Dwight Morrow, opening his campaign for a seat in the Senate, startled the political world by his advocacy of the repeal of the eighteenth (Prohibition) Amendment. He declared that the Federal Government had been turned into a local policeman by States leaving to it the task of carrying out a great social reform. He advocated that freedom should be restored to individual States, who should determine their own form of liquor control with Federal protection of "dry" States against invasion from wet States.

The Herald Tribune declares that his speech effectively crystallises American sentiment and marks an epoch in the progress of thought on Prohibition.

The New York Times expresses the opinion that his direct and forceful utterance may come to rank historically with what Lincoln said about slavery.—Reuter's American Service.

A pretty Chinese wedding was solemnised at St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, on Saturday afternoon when Miss Helen Lim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lim, of Kowloon, was married to Mr. George Y. C. Chung, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chung Pak-kun, of Tientsin. The Rev. W. W. Rogers officiated.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a dress of lace and georgette with an embroidered veil and orange blossom coronet. She carried a sheaf of arum lilies, and was attended by the Misses Florence Lim, Julia Lim and Rose Lee as bridesmaids, wearing dresses of white georgette and tulle with bouquets of white gladioli.

The bride's mother wore a Chinese ceremonial costume. The duties of best man were carried out by Mr. Mok Hing-fai. A reception was later held at the South China Restaurant.

The ordinary system of stock sizes and fittings is out of date now that people have become more particular about fit. For only perfect fit can give perfect foot comfort.

So the makers of K introduced their new famous "Plus" fittings — shoes with the heel-parts one fitting narrower than the foreparts (see illustration.) Now if your foot is slim at the ankle you will be able to get a K shoe that fits closely at the heel yet allows ample freedom for the toes.

It's the extra comfort and the extra smartness which have made K "Plus" Fitting Shoes so popular.

COST OF LIVING INDEX.

LOWER THAN AT ANY TIME SINCE 1916.

London, May 17.
On May 1 the average level of retail prices of commodities was approximately 55 per cent. above that of July 1914, as compared with 57 per cent. one month ago and 61 per cent. one year ago. The fall in the general percentage of increase since April 1 was largely due to reductions in the price of butter, milk and coal. The cost of living is shown by this figure to be lower than at any time since October, 1916.—British Wireless.

OPIUM SCANDAL.

TRIAL OF EX-CONSUL AND HIS WIFE.

Nanking, May 18.
The sensational case of Mr. and Mrs. Kao Ying, who were extradited to China from the United States for trial on charges of smuggling opium into San Francisco, has been recalled by a decision of the Soochow High Court, to which the former Vice-Consul and his wife appealed against the judgment of the Nanking District Court.

Yesterday, the Soochow High Court revised the decision of the Nanking District Court, which had sentenced Mr. Kao Ying to seven years' imprisonment, and a fine of $6,666, and instead, sentenced him to five years' imprisonment, and a fine of $5,000, on the charge of smuggling opium; and in addition three years' imprisonment, and a fine of $3,000, for complicity in smuggling Chinese into the United States. The Soochow High Court, however, decided that the total term of imprisonment, for the two offences, should be six years, and a fine of $8,000.

The Soochow High Court confirmed the sentence of four years' imprisonment passed on Mrs. Kao Ying, by the Nanking District Court, but reduced the fine from $6,000 to $4,000.

Mr. Sun Yuan, (Suen Foon), the former Chancellor of the Chinese Consulate at San Francisco, who was acquitted by the Nanking District Court, on a charge of complicity in the smuggling of opium into San Francisco, was found guilty by the Soochow High Court, and sentenced to five years' imprisonment, and fined $5,000.

All three defendants declared that they will appeal to the Supreme Court at Nanking.—Reuter.

SHANGHAI'S GOLD EXPORTS.

15,500,000 TLS. TO U.S., 1,250,000 TO JAPAN.

With reference to the gold embargo, attention is drawn to the fact that the export of gold bars from Shanghai for the first four months of the year were: America fifteen and a half million, and to Japan one and a quarter million worth in Haikuan tael.—Reuter.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.

"SO THIS IS COLLEGE" NOW SHOWING.

A hundred per cent. singing and dancing talkie depicting College life in America, entitled "So This is College" was screened at the Queen's Theatre yesterday to crowded houses and will be shown until Tuesday.

The picture describes college life with much realism and one of its features is a rugby game in which a crowd of 100,000 wildly cheers for the opposing teams. This forms the dramatic climax of the picture.

"So This is College" is a picture that is quite worth seeing if only because of the amusing episodes of the story and the clear-cut and well-spoken dialogue throughout the picture. The strong cast consists of Elliott Nugent, Robert Montgomery, Cliff Edwards, and Sally Starr, while Cliff Edwards plays a comedy relief part with his entertaining ukulele songs. On the whole the acting of the principal players leaves nothing to be desired and although most of them are comparatively new-

New York, May 17.
That the United States' representatives at the London Naval Conference accepted three less eight-inch cruisers than the Navy Board insisted was the minimum for the purposes of national defence, was disclosed at a meeting of the Committee on Foreign Relations of the United States Senate, by the evidence of Admirals Bristol and Hilary Jones. The former complained that the "navy's best thought was brushed aside in London." He declared that the 5-3 ratio with Japan was necessary, but was not retained under the new Treaty.—Reuter's American Service.

A Nurse's Dilemma
And How She Found The Way Out.

"No woman should remain a nurse after forty, it is too hard a life," said a member of the nursing profession not long ago, and she spoke from long years of personal experience. Yet nurses keep going, despite the long hours they have to work, the exacting services they have to perform. How do they do it? Here is the evidence of Nurse W. J. Lyons, and she is but one of thousands of professional nurses all over the world who take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when they get run down and need the tonic help which is so abundantly given by this, the most famous of all blood and nerve restorative remedies.

"I had lost colour and strength," says Nurse Lyons, who resides at No. 137 Broadway, Chicopee Falls, Mass., U.S.A. "I had severe headaches and nervous spells, could not get restful sleep and was tired and listless all the time. I was short of breath and lost weight. My condition alarmed my friends. Nothing helped me until I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They gave me back my health. My blood was built up, I regained my strength and my colour returned. I can certainly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the system."

Any doctor can tell you just why it is that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the formula of which was devised by a highly-skilled British physician some fifty years ago, have attained that pre-eminence which is theirs to-day as the world's greatest blood and nerve tonic. It is because they know the unique value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a remedy for anaemic conditions, nervous weakness, general debility, that so many doctors prescribe them. Your chemist can supply Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but be sure and insist upon having them; nothing else is just the same, or just as good.

WOMAN'S WORLD
FOR OUR LADY READERS.

Day & Evening Shoes.

HOW THEY ARE AFFECTED
BY THE LONGER SKIRT.

Daytime shoes matter just as much as evening shoes really, but it is easier, on the whole, to choose a number of these successfully than it is to choose the same number of evening shoes and be sure of making no mistake.

For fairly hard morning wear the modern Oxford shoe is a very good choice. It is neat to look at, much more elegant than the old-fashioned Oxford, owing to its shorter vamp, and it is good for the feet because it provides plenty of support. Calfskin, in black or brown, and antelope are the two best materials for general wear.

Since Last Year.
Court shoes, or (as some people call them) pumps, look better with afternoon frocks than Oxfords, as a rule; some of the new ones are particularly attractive, especially when more than one material is used, and the second fabric takes a graceful curve from the side of the shoe round the front and back to the other side.

The whole question of evening shoes has altered enormously since this time last year.

Then, the pale beige or nude shoe which exactly matched the arms and the stocking of the wearer was nearly always the most effective kind to wear.

Now, with frocks which go down to the ankle, there is no longer the need for the balance of this pale colour there was when skirts were so much shorter, and the shoe which matches the frock is almost always best.

Gold and Misty Green.
You will notice this particularly if you watch people dancing. The shoe which contrasts with the dress always gives you a slight sense of shock (I am speaking merely of the fashions of the immediate moment), though the contrast may be absolutely right in theory.

Among a whole crowd of dancing dresses seen recently there were only two which stood out and remained pleasing to the eye during all the movement of dancing.

One was in gold and the other in a very pale misty green.

The gold dress had a very well-fitted lame bodice, continuing a few inches below the waist line, and indicating the natural waist, although it had no belt. The ankle length skirt was very full, and made of net, but its fullness only became apparent when the wearer was dancing, and it flowed gracefully from her; the rest of the time it hung down to her feet in straight soft lines.

Airy Fairy Materials.
Her shoes and stockings were the same colour as her frock; satin, with high heels and an ankle strap, for the shoes; silk for the stockings.

The other dress was in georgette, and this, or chiffon, is one of the best materials for the present day dancing dress. Here again the skirt was very full, but hung straightly when not in motion; and the bodice had a charming little shoulder cape, which did all sorts of delicious things while its owner danced, and the crepe-de-Chine shoes matched the frock.

Georgette or chiffon is good because anything which is heavy and clings to the ankles is bound to hamper its wearer and possibly her partner as well; whereas these airy fairy materials behave very much like wood smoke or mist, following every step that is danced, with gracious flares and curves.

CHEAPER FLYING.

Aero Clubs at Home are extremely pleased by a recent announcement showing that Britain is now able to produce the cheapest light aeroplane in the world. This is so by reason of the fact that the price of the Gypsy "Moth" has just been reduced by no less a sum than £80. The price of the machine is thus £595, which is the lowest price for a standard two-seater biplane in the world. The news is especially welcome to Flying Clubs at Home as they are likely to be severely hit this year by the reduction of their subsidies.

The bringing down of the price of this machine by the de Havilland Company has been made possible by the introduction of mass production into aircraft factories. This provides an illustration of the fact that aeroplane production is rapidly assuming the same proportions as motor-car manufacture. The Company named is now turning out 1,700 machines a year, and as it makes the entire craft and engines, it is able to work on the mass production system, which saves both time and money. According to an official of the Company, there is no foreign machine of the type now reduced in price made at a figure within £100 of that of the "Moth." Even the American manufacturers, who pride themselves on cheap production, have been unable to get to so low a selling figure. The machine has a cruising speed of 90 to 100 miles per hour, and is driven by a 100-horse-power engine. It is, moreover, fitted with dual controls which can be operated from either cockpit. These facts are most encouraging at a time when we hear criticism of lack of enterprise on the part of British aircraft manufacturers. The tendency will be to popularise flying and make the public even more air-minded. Indeed, it is fast becoming evident that more and more people are taking to flying, not only by utilising the facilities offered by regular services, but by becoming themselves owners of light machines. It has been shown that very little ground space is needed for taking-off or landing when small machines are used, and in increasing numbers people are setting up their own little hangars near their country residences. At the moment, of course, only those with considerable means and their own property can make such provision, but with the steady reduction in the price of machines, bringing them within the cost of the motor-car, as well as the cheapness of operation, there can be no doubt that as time goes on, flying will become quite the thing, both for pleasure and business purposes.

Here in Hongkong, although little is heard of the actual developments, it seems that good progress is being made by the Flying Club in laying the foundations for a live organisation. We hear that the Club is to have its own hangar and other premises across the harbour, and that, before long, we may expect to see regular flights by its members. There are, of course, limitations here, compared with Home, but, none the less, the Club should have a useful future and possibly be of some help in leading to contact with other nearby centres. As to the risks of flying it has been proved that, given good machines and ground organisation, these are extremely small, even far less than those of motor-ing. As the motor-car displaced the carriage and the pedal cycle, so will the aeroplane in course of time come into pre-eminence. That is the tendency of the age, and it is inevitable.

The Walker Cup.

Great Britain has still little with which to plume herself in connexion with British-American golf rivalry but a great deal about which to sit penitently in sack-cloth and ashes. The result of the Walker Cup match is dismaying for the team had been selected with great care and while hopes of winning the Cup were never very bright, if they existed at all, it was hardly expected that Britain would be subject to such a severe defeat. The match which ended on Friday possesses features parallel to those which characterised the play in the last contest in America two years ago. On that occasion Britain was defeated by the unprecedented margin of eleven games to one. It is notable that Britain's solitary victor was Mr. T. A. Torrance who beat Mr. Charles Evans by one hole. This year Mr. T. A. Torrance was again the only member of the British team to win a singles match and he did so in very convincing style. This year Britain has lost by ten matches to two and perhaps there is some very slight consolation in the fact that the margin of defeat is not quite so big as in 1928. This year Britain did win one of the four games, but however well the team played, the Americans played much better. The scores were convincing, the superiority of the visitors definitely stressed. The Americans are to be congratulated on fine golf, for they were the better team and fully deserved their success. There is, however, one plume which Britain has retained in the face of a most determined challenge from America. An English girl has retained the Open Ladies' Championship despite the attack of America's best lady golfers. It was a convincing win for Miss Fishwick and all the more remarkably in that she is of comparatively tender years and far less experienced in championship matches than her opponents. So although the greatest week in British golf has closed with one fully deserved victory for America, there is some cause for satisfaction in the splendid performance of Miss Fishwick.

Appearing before Mr. Grantham at the Central Police Court this morning, a coolie employed at the Hongkong Club was fined $10, or fourteen days' hard labour in default, for stealing two pounds of butter from a Dairy Farm lorry which was outside the Club at the time.

CRIMINAL SESSIONS SENTENCES.

PUISNE JUDGE MAKES THE POSITION CLEAR.

Mr. Justice Wood at the Supreme Court this morning, made the position clear as to the date from which sentences passed at the Criminal Sessions commence.

His Lordship said:—I have been informed by the Registrar that doubts have been expressed as to the date upon which sentences passed at the Criminal Sessions are intended to run. The law on the point seems to be perfectly clear, that in the absence of any expression by the Judge who passes sentences, all sentences run from the date of the commencement of the Sessions in which they are cast. I am making this formal statement to set all doubts at rest, and I do so with the concurrence of the Chief Justice.

Mr. Fitzroy:—That, of course, follows the practice at Home. His Lordship:—Yes, the law is perfectly clear.

KOWLOON WEDDING.

CEREMONY PERFORMED AT ROSARY CHURCH.

The Rev. Father Spada officiated at the wedding at Rosary Church, Kowloon, on Saturday of Miss Carmen Florencia Lisboa Garcia, eldest daughter of Mrs. Francisco Maria Garcia, and Mr. Florentino Santos Fernando, of Tondo, Manila, youngest son of Mr. Ciriacio Fernando.

The bride was attired in white satin and silk lace made up in Victorian style and carried a bouquet of Honolulu creeper and maiden-hair fern. She was attended by Miss Albertina Garcia (sister of the bride), Miss Celeste Gill and Miss Millie Remedios as bridesmaids who wore dresses of peach coloured celanese and crinoline picture hats to match. They carried bouquets of gladiolas and maiden hair ferns.

The bride was given away by her father and the bridegroom was attended by Mr. Daniel Z. Romualdez of Manila as best man. The groomsmen were Dr. C. F. X. da Rosa and Dr. N. P. Karanjia.

After the ceremony a reception was held at 37 Gordon Road, Kowloon, the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Feranda, and later the couple left for the honeymoon which is being spent in Canton and Macao. The bride's going away dress was of peach coloured celanese with a crinoline picture hat to match.

The Very Idea!

"I like it, but I shall not have it because it is not British." These words were addressed to a shopkeeper recently when an article was shown to the Queen who, with Princess Mary, went shopping at Windsor. Both made several purchases, including Easter eggs and chocolates. They also visited a picture shop where Princess Mary bought a number of prints. In every case the Queen and Princess Mary insisted on the goods purchased being British.

Client—"Do you think you can make a good portrait of my wife?"
Artist—"My friend, I can make it so lifelike you'll jump every time you see it."

It has remained for a Wembley vicar to remark in his parish magazine upon an aspect of the larger hats that women are starting to wear again. "After twenty years of male emancipation," he says, "is our view in church, cinema or concert room to be obstructed by confections from Paris?" It is a very pertinent question because larger hats seem to be definitely coming in again.

Reader—"Dear Editor, what's the best way to find out what a woman thinks of you?"
Editor—"Marry her."

Tennessee, the place to which so many rag-time singers are always informing us they wish to return, is continually providing us with fresh matter for comedy. Having forbidden schoolteachers by law to believe that man has descended from the monkey, the State Supreme Court has now ruled that liquor one has drunk does not constitute illegal possession. "Such internal possession of liquor does not come within the Prohibition statute," says the Court. At the same time, the United States Prohibition Bureau has come to the conclusion that some Americans will drink absolutely anything so long as it contains even the smallest proportion of alcohol. Among the things that the Bureau has proved that people drink are perfumes, hair tonics, bay rum and even shellac.

Yet again this year come fresh tales of people putting their clocks back an hour.

A visitor to a house where this mistake had been made was chatting in the diningroom when he heard the clock on the mantelpiece chime two hours behind normal.

"Aha," murmured the host, "tempus fugit."
"Aha," retorted the visitor, consulting his watch, "tempus bunkum."

WHO WAS—PAUL REVERE?

The accuracy of the details in Longfellow's poem, "The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere," has been a subject of dispute, but the main fact, that Paul Revere saved the town of Concord from capture by his timely warning of the British approach, remains unchallenged. Paul Revere was a prominent figure in the American War of Independence. He was brought up to follow his father's trade of engraver and goldsmith. He made several anti-British cartoons and was one of the rebels who took part in the Boston Tea Party, and was enrolled, immediately war broke out in earnest, as a Lieutenant of artillery.

By the time peace was declared, he had risen to the rank of Lieutenant-colonel. He then returned to his old trade and was very successful in it, especially in the improvement of methods of copper plating. In 1795, the Masonic brotherhood in Boston, honoured him by appointing him their Grand Master.

"The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere" forms one of the series entitled "Tales of a Wayside Inn."

YOUNG RUSSIAN
STOWAWAYS.SENTENCED AT THE KOWLOON MAGISTRACY.

LAD'S INGRATITUDE.

In imposing a fine of $50, with the alternative of one month's hard labour in default, on Alexander Polevoy, who was formerly employed by Messrs. Alex. Ross's Kowloon Branch, Mr. Whyte Smith, at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, described the defendant's conduct as being extraordinary after he had been treated so well by members of the local Russian community.

Polevoy appeared before his Worship on remand on a charge of stowing away from Shanghai to Hongkong by the President Adams, another young Russian lad, Eugen Novikoff, being jointly charged with the same offence.

It will be recalled that less than a month ago, Polevoy was before the Kowloon Magistrate on charges brought against him by the police as a result of his taking a private motor car out of the Alex. Ross Garage without the owner's permission. He was then sent to Shanghai by the Russian community.

When the case of the two lads was again mentioned this morning, his Worship asked Detective Sergeant Kelleff if he had any further proposals to make.

The officer replied that he had been in communication with the Assistant Director of Criminal Intelligence and he stated that the police could not do anything further.

His Worship, addressing Polevoy, said it seemed an extraordinary thing, after he had been treated so well by members of the Russian community and after having been let off on his last offence, that he should steal a passage to the Colony. He believed that the defendants were rather pleased with themselves, thinking that it was rather a fine thing to stowaway.

His Worship said he thought that was just such a thing as was done by cheats.

Polevoy was fined $50, while his companion was ordered to pay a fine of $30 or in default go to prison for three weeks.

TAKARABE BACK
IN JAPAN.DEMONSTRATOR HANDS HIM
A SWORD.

Shimonoseki, May 18.—Admiral Takarabe, who was Naval Adviser to the Japanese Naval Delegation at the London Conference, arrived from Chosen en route for Tokyo this morning.

At Shimonoseki Station, a Japanese handed Admiral Takarabe a sword wrapped in a newspaper. He was immediately arrested, but evidently meant no harm, he merely wanted to show his dissatisfaction at the result of the London Conference.

The letter accompanying the sword, points out the oppressive attitudes of England and America, and the weak attitude of Japan. However, the incident is regarded as merely a childish demonstration.

Osaka's Welcome.

SINGAPORE TROOP

WELCH REGIMENT.

COMING FROM EGYPT.

Singapore, May 12.

It has now been officially announced that the 2nd Welch Regiment will be relieved in Singapore by the 1st Gloucesters, who are at present stationed in Egypt. The date of arrival is not yet known, but it is expected that the change will not take place before October or November.

The Gloucesters are a famous regiment, with the unique distinction of being allowed to wear two cap badges, having fought back to back in a memorable campaign in South Africa. They number among their War honours the landing at Gallipoli and service on the Macedonian Front in addition to the most important battles in France.

In the sporting world they are not so well-known as the 2nd Welch, whose long record of Army Rugby successes has been one of the most stimulating influences in local sport during their stay here. Previous to the War, the 1st Gloucesters were twice in the final of the Army Rugby Cup, but were defeated, first by the 2nd Welch, and again by the 2nd Duke of Wellington.

After the War they again met the 2nd Welch Regiment in the final and were defeated. They have never held the Army Rugby Cup.

The Officer Commanding the Battalion is Lieut.-Col. A. K. Chapman.

LAUNCH MORTGAGE
DISPUTE.WITNESS SAYS DEFENDANT
IS NOT NG SHING.

Evidence that defendant is not Ng Shing was given in the Supreme Court this morning before the Chief Justice (Sir Joseph Kemp) when the case concerning the alleged fraudulent mortgage of a steam launch to Dr. Basto was resumed.

The plaintiff, Chan Wo-po, on behalf of himself and all other partners in the Po On Company of Canton, is suing Mak Chun-loong (allegedly falsely calling himself Ng Shing) for the return of the launch, damages for its detention and a declaration from the Court that the launch belongs to the Po On Company, subject to the mortgage of Dr. Basto.

Mr. H. G. Sheldon, instructed by Mr. F. H. Loseby, of Messrs. Russ and Company, is for plaintiff, while defendant is conducting his own case.

In evidence, Lai Chung, a folk employed by the Yuen Hop Porcelain shop, declared that he knew the late Ng Shing and stated that defendant was not Ng Shing.

Mak Kay-cheung claimed to be defendant's uncle and said he (witness) obtained the job for defendant in Hongkong as witness could neither read nor write.

Witness explained that he had to go from Hongkong to Canton on business on January 26, 1929, but defendant, by means of a trick, obtained all the papers relating to the launch before he went. Defendant subsequently mortgaged the launch to Dr. Basto.

The case is proceeding.

COAL MINES BILL
DISPUTE.MAY BE SETTLED BY A COMPROMISE.

LORDS AMENDMENTS.

London, May 18.

The newspapers suggest that if the House of Lords amendments to the Coal Mines Bill are resisted when the Bill returns to the House of the Commons, differences will be settled by compromise.

The most important amendments made by the House of Lords deal with miners' working hours and with compulsory amalgamations of collieries.

The first provides the spread over of the working time of miners, permitting agreements for a forty-five hour week or a ninety-hour fortnight, instead of a fixed working day of seven and half hours.

The second provides for submitting to the Board of Trade, for the advice of Commissioners, as the authority to be responsible for floating colliery amalgamation schemes.—British Wireless.

When the House of Lords recently agreed to the second reading of the Bill, but fore-shadowed amendments later, Lord Thomson said the Government would have to take a very firm stand on the Committee Stage. The Bill was a measure of national importance and it was introduced to help the coal industry.

A feature of the debate was the maiden speech of Lord Sankey who confessed that he still favoured nationalisation, which was the remedy advocated by the Coal Commission over which he presided eleven years ago.

CRITIC OF THE U.S.
GIRLS.DISILLUSIONED DRESS DESIGNER.

M. Jean Patou, who is returning to Paris after a visit to New York, is disillusioned about the American girl, and "desolated."

The famous dress designer would not be surprised, the next time business should compel him to cross so wet and salty an ocean to the land officially designated "dry," to see her wearing nose-rings and lip-plates.

Already they paint their finger nails with colours to match their gowns—red, green, purple, mother of pearl, or what-not.

M. Patou, seated at dinner, shuddered as he beheld dainty crummed finger tips, that on the white table linen, reminded him "of the blood stains of a wounded animal on a field of snow."

Then why should the naturally beautiful American girl outrage Nature by dyeing her hair?

Does she not know that the colour of the hair is designed to be a part of an ensemble Nature has provided for each individual, therefore the only shade suitable to the complexion and colour of the eyes?

Ballroom Perils.

These tendencies produced a shock to Patou's aesthetic sense, as he noted them on his arrival, but worse was yet to come.

He observed with amazement young society girls dancing with their cheeks against the cheeks of their partners, while their lower extremities trailed some distance behind.

Moreover, he found a genuine danger in the "charming, but very alarming" habit of careless kicking as practised by youthful dancers in America.

"I think," he said, "it would be better to regulate the traffic in crowded ballrooms with rules as strict as those applied to motor-cars. It is indeed necessary."

"One can never tell what young people of to-day, who everywhere are in revolt against the conventions, will do next."

SANDO AT THE STAR
THEATRE.AMAZING BED OF NAILS
FEAT.

Sando, "the pocket Hercules," is at present proving a great attraction at the Star Theatre.

In his displays yesterday, he was assisted by a young lady and gave an excellent performance, including muscle control and weight-lifting.

His concluding item, the Bed of Nails feat, was most amazing. In this, he lies down on a slab of wood from which five-inch nails protrude. A huge piece of rock is then placed on his chest, and he permits this to be hammered with a big sledge-hammer. The feat was loudly applauded yesterday.

R.A.M.C. Dance.

The tennis court at the Military Hospital, Bowen Road, was the scene of a very enjoyable dance on Friday night, the Junior Ranks, R.A.M.C., being the hosts. A large number of guests took the opportunity of dancing under somewhat cooler conditions than prevail indoors, and the Astral Band was heard to good advantage on a stage erected, and artistically illuminated, at one side of the court. Amongst those present were Lt.-Colonel H. W. Russell, O.B.E., R.A.M.C., Matron Miss K. Hoscoe, R.N.C., Qaima, and a number of the Nursing Sisters, Qaima, whose dresses in silver, grey, and scarlet added a picturesque touch of colour to the scene. Refreshments were served during an interval, and the guests and hosts voted the dance one of the most successful held in the hospital.

AUSTRALIANS MEET THE M.C.C.

REACH TOTAL OF 285 IN 1ST INNINGS.

London, May 17. With the exception of Richardson, who recently scored a century, the only batsmen to make any runs for the Australian tourists in their preliminary matches before the first Test, have been W. M. Woodfull, the captain, Don Bradman and W. H. Ponsford. It was again left to these three to do the scoring in their present match with the M.C.C., which was started to-day at Lord's. The earlier batsmen gave the team a promising start but the others failed to carry on the good work. Woodfull, Bradman and Ponsford between them knocked up 200 out of a total of 285. The captain had made 62 when his wickets was taken, while Bradman, who has been the most prolific scorer of the side, contributed 66. Ponsford was 82 not out when the innings closed.

Allom was the most successful bowler, taking five wickets for 67 runs.—Reuter.

GOLF BATTLEFRONT TRANSFERRED.

MATCHPLAY CHAMPIONS AT MOORPARK.

London, May 17. The Anglo-American golf battlefront was transferred to Moor Park, Rickmansworth, to-day where a 36 hole skirmish between the respective match-play champions, Leo Diegel (America) and Abe Mitchell (England) for side stakes of £250 concluded an historic week.

Diegel had the use of two caddies, one carrying his clothes. He was wearing four pull overs but by the time the sixth hole was reached he had discarded three of them.

After winning the first hole Mitchell took three putts at the third where Diegel squared. Diegel won the fifth; the sixth went to Mitchell but the American took the eighth and turned one up. He maintained the lead to the eighteenth, which he won, and had a lead of two up after the first half of the match.

Diegel went round in 78 while Mitchell took one stroke more. Both gave a poor exhibition of putting.

Leo Diegel, beat Abe Mitchell by one up.

Though beaten, Mitchell made a gallant last-minute recovery, after being four down at the 27th. He won the 29th in three strokes and also the 30th after pulling his tee shot into the gorse from where he made a marvellous recovery, the ball pitching a yard from the pin. Mitchell squared at the 35th with a birdie. Then at the 36th, with a typical demon putt, Diegel, from the edge of the green, holed out, while Mitchell missed from three yards.—Reuter.

MUSSOLINI'S SEA AMBITIONS.

NAVAL PROGRAMME MUST BE CARRIED OUT.

Florence, May 18. In the course of an address to a Fascist gathering here, Signor Mussolini declared that there is "nothing more insulting for the pride of the Italian people than the insinuation that our Naval programme will not be carried out."

He emphasised that it must be fulfilled exactly as laid down, and the 29 new ships shall be launched, "because I am convinced that the Italian people, provided it does not stay a prisoner in the sea that once belonged to Rome, must be capable of making exceptional sacrifices."—Reuter.

Kobe, May 17.

The Chinese Olympic team arrived this evening on the Taiyo Maru. They will be accorded a reception at the Chinese Assembly Hall by local Chinese residents.—Reuter.

AUTHOR OF
"THE MURDER BACKSTAIRS"
"THE BLACK PRISONER," ETC.

CHAPTER XLVII.

The Berkeley household had been notified on Sunday afternoon that the inquest into the death of Doris Matthews would be held Monday morning, at 10 o'clock, in the funeral chapel of the city morgue.

When Dundee entered the dining room at half past eight he found that he was the last to appear for breakfast and that every member of the party was decorously dressed for the coming solemn occasion.

"Hello, sluggard!" Gigi greeted him joyously, then broke into a parody song:

"My Bonnie lies long past the hour,
My Bonnie lies long in his bed!"

"Gigi!" her mother reproved her. "Just when we were talking of a funeral, too!" She turned abruptly to Dundee: "George and I have decided to have the funeral here, dear Mr. Dundee. In the little parlor—not the servants' sitting-room. Doris was Church of England, wasn't she, dear Mrs. Lambert? I'm sure our own Episcopalian minister would be delighted to conduct the services, both here and at the cemetery."

"Mrs. Berkeley, Mr. Crosby and I have talked it over and we'd like to take Doris to New York and bury her beside Phyllis. We feel it is what they both would want."

"Oh!" Mrs. Berkeley said uncertainly. Then, in a rather strange voice: "You—won't be coming back, I suspect?"

Mrs. Lambert smiled faintly and shook her silver-white head. "I don't believe you will need me, now that—"

"Of course it was largely because of Clorinda's marriage to Mr. Crosby that I needed you," Mrs. Berkeley interrupted eagerly, "and now that she is going to marry John Maxwell instead—"

"I'm glad you admit it at last, Mother," Clorinda cut in quietly. "Oh, I'm going to stop trying to manage other people," Mrs. Berkeley laughed, flushing brightly. "Your father and I had a long talk last night, children and your old Abbie is going to settle down and be a model small-town wife and mother."

Husband and wife exchanged the first frank, affectionate glance that Dundee had seen pass between them and the young detective felt a sudden surge of something remotely akin to fondness for the woman he had disliked so heartily.

He looked swiftly toward Gigi. The child's eyes were downcast and her lips were trembling, but whether from grief at Mrs. Lambert's imminent departure, or from a painful joy over her mother's tacitly promised reformation, he could not tell. But when he glanced at Mrs. Lambert he felt no doubt at all as to what had brought the tears to her blue-grey, shadowed eyes. For her eyes were upon Gigi.

At a quarter to 10 Dick Berkeley knocked impatiently upon Dundee's door.

"I'll be down in five minutes, Dick," the detective promised. "Wait for me in the car. Have the others gone?"

"Everybody's gone—including the servants," Dick told him. "And you'd better make it snappy or we'll be late."

Carrying a suitcase, Dundee moved swiftly from bedroom to bedroom, collecting white canvas tennis shoes and golf shoes. In one bedroom he paused before a dressing table, picked up a black-and-gold bottle of perfume, removed the stopper and sniffed. There came over his face a ludicrous expression of disappointment. Then he read the label again—Nuit de Joie; he'd had a girl not so long ago who used that scent; he sniffed again, then smiled triumphantly. Very carefully he wrapped the bottle in his handkerchief and deposited it among the shoes.

"What are you doing with that suitcase?" Dick demanded. "I thought you were staying here until this murder business was cleared up."

"I am," Dundee assured him. "I'm just taking some stuff into town to have it cleaned."

They drove almost in silence, but when Dundee asked the boy to stop at City Hall, Dick commented dryly:

"I didn't know there was a laundry or a cleaners' shop here, though I suppose the politicians need one for their dirty linen."

Dundee was still smiling at Dick's brave attempt at a joke when he entered the laboratory of Dr. Abel Jennings, city chemist and toxicologist.

"Another job for you, Doctor," he announced, as he opened the suitcase. "You may find it a poser. I want to know if there are any wood alcohol impurities lurking beneath the nice white polish on any of these shoes, but—particularly this pair."

"Then I'll analyze the cloth of these shoes first," Dr. Jennings promised matter-of-factly. "What's the poser?"

"I thought maybe the white shoe polish had queerer our chances," Dundee admitted. "Then one other little thing, Doctor. Look! Can you tell me whether this perfume is a mixture of what the label claims it to be and Fleur d'Amour, the scent on that handkerchief I gave you to analyze?"

"Each perfume is composed of its own essential oils," the doctor answered. "If there's any—what d'you call it?—Fleur d'Amour, I'll be able to tell you."

"When?"

"I'll try to have both reports for you by five o'clock," the doctor answered, then explained in some detail the need for so much time.

Dundee returned to Dick's car without his suitcase. "One more stop, please, Dick, and then for the inquest." Meredith's Department Store.

It took only five minutes for the detective to purchase a bottle of Nuit de Joie, identical in appearance with the one he had just left in Dr. Jennings' office and three minutes more to give it into Detective Payne's hand, with explicit instructions. Before Dundee took the place among the witnesses to be called by the coroner, Payne was well on his way to Hillcrest. Coroner Price reproved the two inexcusably late arrivals with a fierce frown, which seemed to have no effect upon Detective Dundee's cheerfulness.

The inquest dragged along until past noon, bringing forth no new evidence, for of his own recent discoveries Dundee said nothing. Dr. Price called upon him to tell of the discovery of the body in the lake and of its removal to the summerhouse, then dismissed him. At one o'clock District Attorney Sherwood requested an adjournment of the inquest until Thursday and the coroner readily agreed.

"Well! Where do we go from here?" Captain Strawn grinned at his young subordinate as they lingered in the cleared funeral chapel. "I'll bet Sherwood would give his new silk topper not to have jumped into this Jonah of a case so cockily. Did you see the papers this morning? Promised the dear voters he'd have the murderer behind bars within 24 hours."

"I'm afraid his prophesy will come true, Chief—though no one will be more surprised than District Attorney Sherwood himself!"

"Hey! What's that? Been holding out on me, have you, young fellow me lad?" Strawn blustered. "I have got a pot on to boil," Dundee confessed. "I can't tell you about it now, for I may be all wrong. But if I'm right—and I think I am—you are now invited to attend a very private confession party at Hillcrest this afternoon at six o'clock."

"And in the meantime, what am I supposed to do?" Strawn demanded sarcastically. "I'm only the chief of the homicide squad. What are my orders?"

Dundee laughed. "I want you to telephone to Hillcrest this afternoon about four o'clock and request, very officially the presence of every member of the family, and of Crosby, Mr. Lambert and Wickett, in your office. I'll come along as a matter of course and to make sure there are no absentees. You can tell them anything you like, hammer away at them with as many questions as you can think up. I'll slip away at five and telephone you whether the pot's boiling or not. If it is, I'd like for you to duck out at about 20 minutes to six, leaving word with Sergeant Turner to dismiss the crowd 10 minutes after you're gone. By then you'll be on your way to Hillcrest, with a 10 minutes' start of the Berkeleys. I'll be waiting for you and then—with luck—the pot should boil over very promptly."

Probably if Dundee had not staged a confession in the Rhodes House murders in much the same secretive and dramatic fashion, Captain Strawn would not have lent his aid to the programme outlined by his subordinate, without knowing what it was all about.

As it was, the chief of the homicide squad followed instructions to the letter. At five o'clock Dundee left Police Headquarters for Dr. Jennings' laboratory. At ten minutes past five he spoke four cryptic words to Captain Strawn: "The pot is boiling." In another five minutes he was in a police car, headed toward Hillcrest, his suitcase between his knees.

But he was not jubilant. So far, as he was concerned, the show was over. With all his heart he wished he could leave the theatre before the curtain rose on the third act—that terrible, necessary third act—in which a human being, as life-loving as himself, would be crushed before his eyes. But he had to go on with it. With his heart like lead he set his stage. From the centre of a dressing table in a bedroom at Hillcrest he removed the black-and-gold bottle of perfume he had purchased that day and put the original bottle in its place. But that flask had a new label now. In place of the gold seal bearing the name, Nuit de Joie, there was a large plain white sticker. And on the glaring white surface were the words, lettered in black ink by Dundee himself:

Fleur d'Amour.

On each side of the desecrated perfume bottle he placed the greyish white remains of a tennis Oxford—shoes that had been so gleamingly immaculate when he had first seen them—on Saturday morning.

Ten minutes later Captain Strawn and Detective Dundee were crouching side by side in a clothes closet, whose door was open just enough for the two men to observe the entrance of the room's owner and any drama that might take place before that sinister dressing table.

There were voices in the hall. Tired people coming up to dress for dinner. Faintly there came the sound of doors opening and closing. And at last the knob they were watching so intently turned quickly under an urgent hand.

"Coming!" Strawn whispered hoarsely and his fingers closed hard upon Dundee's shoulder.

Introducing A New Empress—

EMPRESS OF JAPAN

THE ornamental designs and costly furnishings of the Public Rooms, the majority of which are located on the Promenade Deck, immediately place the Empress of Japan in the front rank of luxury liners. The decorators, realizing that a great number of her days will be spent in warm climates, have favoured cool, fresh colours and avoided the use of too warm furniture coverings.

The lofty walls of the Public Rooms are mostly of untouched or merely waxed wood, which enables the natural beauty of the grain to act as a main decorative motive. A fine example of this "nature" treatment, which has also been carried out in the De Luxe Suites and Special Staterooms, is the lofty, glass-domed Lounge in pale mountain ash and walnut. Characteristic here, as in all the Public Rooms on the Empress of Japan, is the wealth of light obtained by day from large windows and domes, and by night from a maze of electric light effects.

ST. PETER'S COLLEGE.

DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES
ON SATURDAY.

Presenting his report on Saturday evening, when the annual distribution of prizes was held, the Principal of St. Peter's College, of Caine Road, gave a brief resume of the progress of the school since its opening in the spring of 1928.

Mrs. Wong Kwong-shung distributed the prizes to the successful students, before a large attendance, including Mr. Wong Kwong-tin and Mr. Chan Tin-shan, both of whom also addressed the gathering.

The school was founded in 1928 with only 18 boys sitting for the entrance examination, but the number increased to 60 within three days. Great difficulty was experienced by the staff at the beginning in teaching and grading the classes, as all the students came from different schools with different standards, but their painstaking efforts were rewarded after a while when everything was put in good order.

In the autumn of the same year, the school had 160 boys on the roll, with the result that it was found necessary to extend the school's premises. A storey in No. 10, Prince Road, was accordingly acquired, but this proved so inconvenient for the teachers, who had to run up and down between Prince Road and Caine Road even in the rainy days, that it was abandoned and another storey in No. 52, Caine Road, which was just next the school itself, was taken.

The Staff Increased.

The staff in 1928 consisted of five Anglo-Chinese teachers and one vernacular teacher, and in 1929, one European mistress, one European and two Anglo-Chinese masters were added to the staff, making a total of 10 teachers.

Two commercial classes have been opened, elementary and advanced, for which the following subjects have been selected: Financial Affairs; Business Economics, General Commercial Knowledge, Commercial Correspondence, Office Routine, Short-hand, Type-writing, etc. Since the opening of these two classes, more than a hundred boys have attended and nearly half of this number have passed the annual examination.

The school opened with no Class I in 1928, but after sending five boys to sit for the Junior Local Examination, obtaining two passes with one distinction in mathematics, a senior class was formed in 1929. In that year, the school obtained a pass in the Senior Local Examination and two in the Junior.

The authorities of the school have extended their help to some boys "who were poor but industrious, by either charging no fees or taking less from them."

The following gentlemen are thanked for their help and encouragement by the offer of prizes to the successful students: Messrs. Lam Che-fong, Pun Che-pui, Chan Che-chiu and Chan Yung-chai.

YACHT CAPSIZES IN HARBOUR.OCCUPANTS HAVE DUCKING NEAR HOLT'S WHARF.

An alarming and unpleasant accident, which might have been attended with more serious results, occurred in the harbour opposite Holt's Wharf yesterday afternoon, when a sailing yacht suddenly heeled over in a heavy gust of wind and overturned, depositing its crew in the water.

Fortunately the yachtmen were able to throw themselves clear and keep afloat until a motor-boat, which appeared on the scene from the neighbouring wharf, with commendable speed, came up and threw out life-buoys and lines. A police launch was also quickly on the spot, and the occupants of the yacht were rescued, little the worse for their adventure.

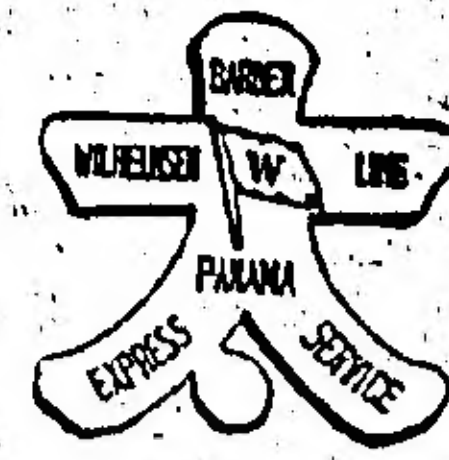

According to an eye witness, the accident, which occurred about 2.15 p.m., was caused as a result of the yacht being caught in a gust just as one of the sails was being hauled down. The boat immediately turned completely over, and the next instant the crew could be seen hanging on to its upturned keel. The rescue parties rushed up within a very short time, and succeeded in saving, not only the crew, but also the yacht.

No official report of the incident was received by the Police, and it is not known, therefore, who the occupants were.

UNANIMOUS VIEWS ON INDIA.

COMMISSION REPORT NOW BEING PRINTED.

WADALA SALT RAID.

London, May 18.
The first part of the report of the Simon Commission on Indian constitutional reform, which will be published on June 10, is complete and a large edition is being printed. It will be available simultaneously here and in India.
A large supply will be sent to India within the next few days.

The second part of the report states that the Commission's recommendations are reported to be unanimous. It is also stated to be ready for printing. It will be published on June 24.

The Secretary for India will be asked in Parliament to-morrow to arrange for publication of the reports at a price that will not bar wide circulation.—British Wireless.

Raid on Salt Pans.

Bombay, May 18.
Five hundred police and auxiliaries were unable to repulse a raid made by four hundred volunteers, assisted by thousands of khaddar-clad spectators, on the salt pans at Wadala. These numbered over twenty thousand,
covering an area of six square miles.

With access easy from all sides,
the raid was splendidly planned and lasted for four hours.

Four hundred salt-raisers were arrested, but a large quantity of salt was removed. Much of this was scattered over the heads of the police.

Good humour characterised the whole proceedings and there was no violence.—Reuter.

Sholapur, May 17.

A Court Martial has sentenced Jaja, the President of the Shola-pur Congress Committee, to seven years' rigorous imprisonment and a fine of 2,000 rupees; Jadhav, Secretary of the Sholapur Congress, to ten years' rigorous imprisonment and a fine of 3,000
rupees; and Maneck Chand, President of the Municipality, to six months and a fine of 10,000.—Reuter.

Revelations Expected.

Sholapur, May 18.

Remarkable revelations are expected in connexion with the recent rioting on the completion of the official inquiry.

There are already indications that the disturbances were the result of a deep-laid scheme.

In the meanwhile, the military are enforcing the strict observance of martial law regulations, with result to flogging.—Reuter.

Discipline Upheld.

Simla, May 17.

The Court of Inquiry has revealed that the misbehaviour in the Garhwal Rifles, reported on April 28, was confined to two platoons who will be dealt with by the normal procedure of military law. The remainder of the Battalion always behaved exemplarily and have received orders to resume their normal duties.—Reuter.

night of the robbery. The hut was dark.

One Man Discharged.

I can understand your position with reference to Lau Sang as he was found shortly afterwards and
I can understand your position
with regard to Heung Yung
because the man who was robbed and wounded identifies him. As to Lau On, however, the case against him is merely this—that he was living a mile away in the same house as Lau Sang and was found there that night. Are you going to ask the jury to convict on that evidence.

Mr. Fitzroy:—I don't think I could ever say that on that evidence the Crown had made out a case against him beyond all reasonable doubt. I must at once say that.

I have read through the records,
of course, and in my view I think you would act quite properly in offering no evidence to this jury as against Lau On if you feel you should adopt that course. It seems to me a perfectly proper course to take.

Mr. Fitzroy:—I agree.
His Lordship then explained to the jury that no evidence would be offered against Lau On and the man was discharged.
The case is proceeding.

CHINA'S CHANGE TO GOLD.

NO SUDDEN ACTION
CONTEMPLATED.

GRADUAL CHANGE, PROVINCE
BY PROVINCE.

MR. SOONG'S VIEWS.

Financial recommendations by the American Kemmerer Commission of financial experts will be fully discussed before action is taken toward improving China's admittedly defective currency systems, according to Mr. T. V. Soong, Minister of Finance.

So convinced is Mr. Soong of the wisdom of shifting and winnowing public opinion in this vital matter that he is taking steps to prepare a pamphlet embodying the points of view brought out by recent publication of the Kemmerer report, he told the United Press.

No Sudden Action.

"We want to do everything possible to encourage and disseminate free expressions of opinion," said the Minister. "So important is this matter that it is vital that we have public opinion behind us in what we do."

"Therefore we shall not act suddenly or without thorough and careful consultation. Many interesting ideas have already been brought forward in the Chinese press, and these dissenting and supporting opinions will all be represented in the booklet which it is our purpose to publish. We welcome constructive criticism as a means of working out a procedure which will be beneficial to the whole country."

Report Denied.

It is not a fact, according to Mr.
Soong, that steps have already been taken toward issuance of Mr. Kemmerer's proposed "sun dollar" on a gold basis, in the province of Che-kiang and Kiangsu—two rich provinces centring on Shanghai.
While such a course is the one recommended by the commission, the Minister feels it vital that nothing be done hastily, since such a course might turn public sentiment against the whole scheme.
As analyzed by Mr. Soong, the Kemmerer proposals for shifting China from a silver to a gold basis have two outstanding points of interest.

A Gradual Shift.

First, the shift is to be a gradual
one. There is to be no effort to change China's chaotic currency systems overnight on a wholesale scale; instead, the move is to be made province by province on a thoroughly conservative and apparently quite workable plan.

Second, the government is to profit by liberal seigniorage, or difference between the cost of bullion and the face value of the coin made from it. This is expected to smooth the path for a government already burdened with heavy expenditures and hardly in a position to indulge in enterprises involving additional expense.

A Major Problem.

For the time being, the sensational decline in the price of silver is providing a major problem in Chinese government finance. The shoe pinches particularly in the matter of China's payment of interest, and repayment of principal, on foreign debts.

In spite of the fact that it now takes many more Chinese dollars to cover a given gold-basis interest payment than it did a year or more ago, Mr. Soong's Ministry is adhering to a policy of strict and prompt payment of obligations in a fashion which financial experts believe may before long make capital available to the National Government on more favourable terms than have prevailed heretofore.

KOWLOON LORRY MISHAP.

YOUNG CHINESE WHO HAD NO LICENCE.

TOOK VEHICLE AWAY.

A young Chinese appeared before
Mr. Whyte Smith at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court this morning on charges of driving a lorry without an appropriate licence and of driving the vehicle without the owner's permission.

The defendant admitted, both counts.

According to Sub-Inspector Nicol, the driver of a lorry was filling petrol at one of the pumps in Nathan Road, Yau-mat, when the defendant asked to be allowed to drive the lorry. The owner, who was pumping air into one of the tyres, made no reply and the defendant,
jumping into the driver's seat,
drove away. He went along Nathan Road into Jordan Road and in trying to avoid a woman near Cox's Path the vehicle turned over,
causing damage to the extent of $250.

In reply to his Worship, the officer mentioned that when the defendant asked the owner to allow him to drive, it was possible the owner did not hear him, but after the accused had taken the lorry he shouted after him.

His Worship asked the defendant
if he had any reason for taking the lorry.

The defendant replied that he had no reason whatever.

His Worship:—Yes, it's a funny business.

On the first charge the defendant was fined $5, and $10 on the second.

CARNELL SENT TO PRISON.

Career of Fraud.

In passing sentence, his Lordship said:—It seems clear from the facts that have been put before me that you were pursuing a systematic career of fraud. You are charged here in respect of one cheque but you had upon you, when arrested, a cheque book containing forms which purported to be cheque forms of the National City Bank of New York but were, in fact, nothing of the kind. You had also a second cheque, already filled in, prepared for use in your own handwriting.

Opportunity to Reform.

This is not the first time you have been before the Courts. You were before the Police Magistrate in August, last year, and the Police Magistrate then decided to give you an opportunity to reform.
Instead of passing sentence upon you, he bound you over in your own recognisances to come up for sentence if required to do so, but instead of earning an honest living you are found now, eight months later, obtaining goods here by false pretences and making use of forged cheques.

It is my duty to pass sentence upon you and I do so. Your sentence will be one year's imprisonment with hard labour.

PERSIAN RAILWAY ABANDONED.

CONTRACT ANNULLED BY THE GOVERNMENT.

Tehran, May 18.

According to the newspapers,
the Government has annulled the contract with the Anglo-American and Franco-German Railway Syndicate owing to the Syndicate's failure to adhere to the terms of it.

The idea was to construct a line from the Persian Gulf to the Caspian Sea, via Hamadan and Tehran. The cost of the scheme was about twenty millions sterling.—Reuter.

NORTH CHINA WAR.

NEW OFFENSIVE ORDERED.

Nanking, May 18.

It is officially reported that Chiang Kai-shek ordered a general offensive on the Peking-Hankow Railway on the 10th. He has exhorted the Government forces to do their utmost to capture Chengchow before the 20th.

Chiang Kai-shek has also ordered the Government forces on the Lung-hai Railway to cease their advance into Honan and instructed them to subjugate the rebels in North Anhwei and West Shantung first.—Reuter.
